Grade 11

- 7 How does the poet use the image of a fish in the poem? Use details and/or examples from the poem to support your explanation.

The poet uses the images of a fish as a kind of pay for the work he has done. He says "You can buy one splendid fish for wife and three sons. Another row, another fish." The more work he does the more money he make. He also states after saying Another row, another fish. Until you have enough and move on to milk, bread, and meat."

Score Point 2

Includes a complete and reasonable explanation of how the image of a fish is used in the poem (as a kind of pay for the work he has done), using details:

>"You can buy one splendid fish for wife and three sons. Another row, another fish" >move on to milk, bread, and meat
